

The Beacon Choice

A collection of glass gobos and DigiGobos®

The Beacon Choice

Welcome to the Beacon world of imaging and projection. I am once again very proud to present the new catalog from the Beacon Gobo Group. It is now filled with even more great designs of standard glass gobos and stunning digital content, called Beacon Digigobos®. All available through the Beacon Gobo Group, a network of gobo manufacturers covering the globe and offering Beacon high quality products and service.

Custom gobos, like the high resolution Beacon full color gobo™, greyscale and B/W glassgobo, are delivered to you when you need them. Not when it suits us.

We are sure that this catalog will spark your imagination and improve your work with all forms of projections.

Marketing Director
Michael Tannemyr

Custom gobos

Being able to project anything you wish on whatever you want is one of the fantastic advantages of gobos and moving lights. They can be seen on stages from London to Broadway and at all kinds of exhibitions, throughout the world. They are used in museums, shopping malls, and even on the sidewalk outside local stores.

"Custom" means you can choose any type of photograph - halftone, black and white, or color - any picture you like, to be transformed into a gobo. And it can be of any size. You can add your own artwork or ask us to do the whole thing. We can work with printed or digital images, and scale or otherwise change them to suit the gobo. We can add or remove colors, text, and other effects. And we can do it fast. How and where you want to use gobos is only limited by your imagination.

Standard gobos

On the following pages we present a large number of standard glass gobos. Break ups, dots, arrows, stars, and a lot of other designs - black and white, halftones, or color. All of these are known by the experienced designers among the Gobo Group members to be useful in many situations.

How to order

When ordering a gobo, it is important to understand what kind of file you need to provide for the best possible result. You can find information related to this on our website, together with information about gobo sizes and more.

It is important to provide the following information together with your digital or printed image:

Custom gobos

- The gobo outer diameter in millimeters (according to fixture/lantern specs)
- The gobo image size in millimeters
- Type of gobo (color, halftone, b/w)
- Quantity
- When you need the gobo
- Delivery details, including contact information

Standard gobos

- The gobo outer diameter in millimeters (according to fixture/lantern specs)
- Article number and name
- Quantity
- When you need the gobo
- Delivery details, including contact information

What is a projector?

All profile spots and moving heads can be used as projectors as well as light sources.

They are equipped with gobo holders in a wide range of sizes. There is a big difference optically between all these fixtures, some are good and some are bad.

It is very important to be aware of the optical quality of the fixture when you are planning to use a gobo. The choice of gobo and how you will project it should also affect your choice of fixture.

For example, if you want to use a gobo to create a texture somewhat out of focus on a wall or a back drop, you can use almost any kind of fixture and gobo.

But if you want to project a company logotype in full color with intricate details, you need a fixture with high optical quality and a glass gobo with high resolution.

One optical obstacle is that a simple circle gobo can look good projected in certain fixtures, since the middle area is covered and doesn't need to be focused. But when you put in a photographic gobo, it looks blurred at the edges or in the center. This is because a simple optical system usually can't create a uniform focus.

Generally, the fixtures on the market today are more or less fuzzy at the edges when the middle is in focus. There are however some projectors that are made for sharp projections with a uniform focus.

Make sure that you know what kind of projector you will be using, as well as what kind of gobo and quality you need. Your local Gobo Group member can provide assistance.

DIGIGOBOS®

A series of incredible standard media files that makes it possible to create stunning video projections and backgrounds. Beacon Digigobos® can be incorporated in derivative works such as live performances, film, video, broadcast, advertisements, websites and presentations. They are perfect for systems like Martin Maxedia and High End Catalyst, and are easy to use for media backgrounds or video effects in almost all media systems. And guess what? All this content is royalty free!

Provided on a DVD with looped clips in PAL format 720x576
PhotoJPEG codec for use on any DVD player.

All DIGIGOBOS® clips come in five formats:
PhotoJPEG, M-JPEG, AVI, MPEG-1, MPEG-2 (m2v). Surf to our website and see them all in action www.gobogroup.com

Custom made

For the fourth consecutive year Beacon was chosen to create all digital content for the spectacular visual scenery at the Eurovision Song Contest. All DIGIGOBOS® were provided by Beacon and most of them were designed and produced on location.

A Beacon standard gobo range was the obvious choice for all moving heads used in the show as well. The result - a beautiful merge of moving images and gobos all tailored for each individual artist.

A new world of light design possibilities has opened up with the introduction of real time video manipulation systems over the last years. The future looks even more exiting with all new screen solutions based on LED and other technology.
